

The Apocalypse of 2018!

I thought this title might get your attention! When we hear “apocalypse,” we think of wars, destruction, earthquakes, plagues, etc. The word apocalypse is a Greek word meaning revelation... (hence, the name of the last book of the Bible). An apocalypse is simply a revelation... a revealing or uncovering or insight into what is.

This year at Church of the Cross, we are hoping to have our own apocalypse. It’s called the Tune In process. This is the follow-up to the LEAD Assessment which we conducted throughout the summer. When all the results were tallied, it indicated that the behavior that was most necessary for us to develop as a congregation was LISTENING. To develop or improve this behavior in the congregation, they have developed a 10-step process which they have called the Tune In process.

Some of you can remember back to when we had transistor radios or analog TV’s. In order to get a good signal, the dial on the radio had to be just in the right place or the rabbit ear antennas on the TV had to be adjusted in just the right direction and spaced just right. The better one tuned in, the better the reception was and the better the quality of the station or show.

This is what the Tune In process is about. It is about our ability to tune in so we can receive and hear what we need to hear better!

Tuning In to the God – One of the things that we believe as Christians is that God is still speaking to us and wanting to guide us. Though the words on the pages of our Bibles are simple ink on paper, when we read them they become a living word that wants to be active in our lives. So also, the Holy Spirit which dwells within us is yearning to align us with God’s will and have us –both individually and corporately—be a part of God’s life-giving will for the world. The Tune In process calls us to get curious about what God is trying to tell us now (in this place and time) and to develop our ability to discern this through prayer and study of holy scripture.

Tuning In to the congregation – We have a wonderful congregation and community here at Church of the Cross. It is always heartening to hear the buzz of conversation in the narthex before and after worship. We also know, when life gets hard, we are a community that can and does rally to support those who are suffering. Even so, our relationships with each other can be d deepened. I’m sure you have experienced it... Those times when a conversation began with the usual pleasantries but then either you or the person you were talking to risked letting the other person in on what was really going on. In the speaking and listening, something happened. Caring happened. A deepening happened. The Tune In process is about intentionally developing our capacity to listen more and deeper to each other... This can be about anything that matters to us. One of the things we want to listen for this year is: How is God at work amongst us? What is the Holy Spirit that is dwelling within each of us doing or wanting to do in and through Church of the Cross?

The access to discerning that is by improving our listening.

Tuning In to the surrounding neighbourhood and community – Pastor Laura and I moved up here from San Antonio, Texas. When I think about the neighbourhoods and community surrounding our congregations, many of the concerns and needs were quite different than here in Calgary. For example, people in San Antonio aren’t concerned about plowing the snow off the roads except once every 50 years or so! Every congregation is situated in a particular time and place amongst a particular “community” of people. In each of these places, God is up to something... both inside local congregations and outside of the congregations. As we get curious about how God is at work in and through us, the curiosity drives us to wonder about how God is at work around us. As we tune in through good, relational listening to our neighbours, we develop our ability to recognize what God is doing and how we might join in and partner in this work with others.

In January, we will be assembling a Listening Team to guide the congregation in increasing its capacity to listen to God, each other and our neighbours. But you don’t have to wait for them. In 2018, how might you develop your ability to connect more deeply with God, your fellow members, and neighbours and strangers around you? What could help you to listen more deeply and see more clearly the wonderful and mysterious things God is doing around you? Much of what we do at Church of the Cross is to provide “structures” to support you in deepening your discipleship... Bible studies, worship services, ways to serve... What step might you take in growing in your apocalyptic capacity... That is, your ability to allow God to reveal to you the wonder of God’s gracious, loving action around you?

Peace and Blessed New Year!
Pastor Phil

Celebration of the 12th Day of Christmas at Church of the Cross - January 5, 7-9 pm

The twelfth day of Christmas is a time for joyous reflection and merry-making. Today closes the Christmas season, not with a whimper but a hearty bang!

This is the day to look back and see the gifts and miracles of the season that have unfolded with each day. It is a time to celebrate the newness of life, the joy of the presence of God in our everyday lives, and the freedom to live, love, share and celebrate. At home, invite friends and family to help you clean up your Christmas decorations, set your tree near your recycling bin, sing together and share a hot beverage. At church, join the festivities as we end the Christmas season with joy and celebration. There will be activities indoors and out. This event is sponsored by the Outdoor Group.

The Baptism of Our Lord, January 14

Jesus' baptism ushers in a new way of living. No longer are people baptized for to repent, have their sins forgiven and commit, to a new way of life.

When Jesus is baptized, the heavens split open and he hears God declare:

"You are my Son the Beloved. With you I am well pleased." Because of that declaration, those words become ours. We are not asked to confess, repent, and turn our lives around ourselves. Rather, we are claimed as God's beloved children and ushered into life in God's beloved community.

We baptize infants as a sign that we are loved and claimed well before we have the faculty to commit sins or repent of them. This act makes it clear that baptism is something much more than confession, forgiveness, and resolutions to live differently. We welcome all people into this life of baptism and we baptize people of all ages to continue the tradition and practice begun with Jesus' baptism. As baptized believers, we are loved, claimed, and formed into a new community of life and grace.

Please bring a picture of your baptism to worship on January 14.

As we celebrate the Baptism of our Lord, we will celebrate our baptism as well and give thanks for the life that we share!

Memoir, life writing, family history; too many of us ponder but never write the story within us. Come explore the motivation, the obstacles, the cautions, and the pleasure of life writing. We will be using the freefall method of writing to get past inhibitions and let your words pour onto the page.

You will need only pen and paper. This will be a safe place, where you can share as much, as little, or none of the writing you do.

My goal for the morning is that you go away having laughed, perhaps cried, and with the strong sense that you own your story but there is a time when you can make it a gift to your family or the entire universe.

Come! All are welcome in this place.

You own everything that happened to you. Tell your stories. If people wanted you to write warmly about them, they should have behaved better. ~Anne Lamott

Pastoral Internship Lay Committee

By now, many of you will have met and chatted with “Intern Kate” (Kate Zaiser) who has been with us since September. Kate has had a quick immersion in all aspects of our church life.

Pastor Phil is Kate’s supervisor and Pastor Laura is also Kate’s mentor. In addition, there is an internship lay committee who will meet with Intern Kate regularly during the eighteen months she is with us.

The role of the lay committee

- Help the intern to interpret the site’s life, ministry and culture
- Provide feedback on how the intern’s ministry has impacted them and other members of the congregation. All feedback presented to Kate is confidential.

The church is Kate’s classroom, her learning environment and it is important for her to know the impact she is having in ministry activities from personal contacts, to sermons, to involvement or leadership in groups and committees.

One way of providing feedback is to talk with Kate, and we encourage you to meet and speak with her. Another important way is to communicate through members of the lay committee. You may be approached by a committee member from time to time and asked in an informal way about a sermon, or Kate’s involvement in other ministry activities. If you’d like to provide written feedback on her sermons, Kate welcomes your comments and you can find Sermon Response Forms in her mailbox.

The committee is there to provide support and feedback. The congregation is the source of the feedback we can provide.

We are: Glenn Schultz (Co-chair), Brian Anderson, Gundars Jautaikis, Lisa Rude, Erin Brook, Betty Jane Hegerat.

Budget Presentation @

Town Hall Meeting

Sunday, January 21, 2018

after worship in the Sanctuary

One of the responsibilities of the Congregational Council is to submit a budget or spending plan for the upcoming year. This budget represents the council’s best attempt to allot our financial resources toward maintaining and expanding the ministry of Lutheran Church of the Cross. The budget includes all anticipated expenditures regarding:

Funding of ministries
Staffing
Benevolence
Property maintenance

The congregation will be meeting to adopt a budget for 2018 at the Annual General Meeting scheduled for the following Sunday, January 28th. This budget presentation is an opportunity to understand the budget that is being proposed and to ask any questions that you might have. The adopted budget then becomes the congregationally-authorized spending plan for the year.

In addition to the budget, the congregation will also be electing new councilpersons. Council terms are three years.

For any questions about the budget or meeting, please talk to the Council Chair, Arnie Reimer, or any other councilperson.

Experiencing God

Do You Want To ...

- Learn to hear when God is speaking to you?
- Find out where God is working and join Him?
- Experience God doing through you what only God can do?

Experiencing God: Knowing and Doing the Will of God will lead you in a 12 unit study of the Bible to learn how to know God better, how to know when God is speaking, and how to adjust your life and ministry to God's revelation of his will. The daily study of the interactive workbook and the weekly small-group session will help you develop a confident, personal relationship with God through which He reveals Himself and His will.

Henry Blackaby, author shares real-life stories of how God has worked through individuals, churches and associations to accomplish His will. You will be inspired to move into a deeper walk with God. On reviewing different books for the fall study this one spoke to me in the first few pages and had me hooked.

For one week each January, Christian churches around the world gather together to pray for the unity of the Christian church. We personally join with fellow Christians worshipping in the churches along Elbow Drive to pray, study, and eat together supporting Christian unity where we live and around the world.

This year's theme for the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity calls us to acknowledge God's many gifts and works for us which are totally unlimited and powerful. The God whom we know intimately in our lives and in our covenanted relationship has acted, is acting and will act for us. And so we are called to offer praise for all God's work.

Mental Health First Aid Basic Course

In November, I was one of 9 members from Lutheran Church of the Cross that attended a two day workshop on mental health first aid sponsored by the Synod of Alberta and the Territories.

This workshop was created to extend the concept of first aid training to include mental health problems, so that community members were empowered to provide better initial support to someone who is developing a mental health problem, has a worsening of an existing mental health problem or is in a mental health crisis. The course does not train people to be a therapist counselor or mental health professional, just like the First aid courses does not train us to be a nurse, or doctor. However the course does improve the course participants' knowledge of mental disorders, reducing stigma, and increasing the amount of help provided to others.

I was shocked by the statistics in any given year, one in five people in Canada are living with a mental illness. Some mental health problems are more common than many physical health problems. While people often know a lot about physical illness, most people have little knowledge about mental illness.

This lack of understanding promotes fear and stigma. It prevents people from seeking help early and seeking the most effective help. It also keeps people from providing appropriate support to friends, colleagues, family members and people around them simply because they do not know how.

Over the course of any person's life, it is highly likely that they will develop a mental health problem themselves or have close contact with someone who does. In Canada one in five will experience some problem with their mental health in a course of a year. The two most common mental health problems are depression and anxiety. Others such as Schizophrenia and bipolar are less common.

God Moments

I do not think that I am alone in being amazed at all the different things going on here on Sundays: whirling dervishes, Turkish breakfast, the St. John's Illuminated Bible and a shadow puppet production. It is awesome that you can come here every week and never know what to expect, however it is easy to lose track of where God is in all the activity.

When I first saw the St. John's Illuminated Bible I was amazed at the beauty of the book and the care that had gone into creating it. As I prepared to read the gospel from the illuminated bible on Sunday morning I found myself distracted by the shiny golden images. I experienced how easy it is to get drawn into the gold-leaf and the extravagant expense of the bible and begin to worship the book instead of the God that the book points to. That is not to say that the illuminated bible is a bad thing. That was not my experience. The images and illuminated text gave me new way to understand the scripture I was reading. As Dr. Gerry Turcotte, President of St. Mary's University, described it, people have read the text many times, but they have not really heard the word. The illuminated bible helps us to hear it in a new way.

As I watched other people interacting with the bible and heard the stories about how it was created and how this copy came to be in Calgary, I saw how the illuminated bible has drawn people to God and to community. It was created as a response to God's word and light that the scribes and artists saw in the world. On Sunday I saw how it can pull people of faith together in new ways, crossing denominational boundaries and revealing the whole body of Christ. God creates and uses extravagant, spectacular things like illuminated bibles to draw us out of ourselves into relationship with God, with each other and with others outside our walls.

Intern Kate is in the office Monday to Wednesday. Please stop by and meet her if you haven't already met her.

Dear Beloved of God –

In the fall of 2017 I was privileged to participate, among other events, in three Common Prayer Services with the Roman Catholics, and with Anglican presence and participation, in Calgary, Edmonton and Whitehorse.

Following the Common Prayer liturgy prepared for the Lutheran-Roman Catholic service in Lund, Sweden in 2016 when Lutheran World Federation President Munib Younan, General Secretary Martin Junge and Pope Francis jointly presided over a Lutheran, Roman Catholic reformation commemoration, each of the Services included a commitment to five ecumenical imperatives. The imperatives were proposed by the Lutheran-Roman Catholic Commission on Unity, in anticipation of the 500th Anniversary of the Reformation.

They are:

1. Catholics and Lutherans should always begin from the perspective of unity, and not from the point of view of division, in order to strengthen what is held in common, even though the differences are more easily seen and experienced.
2. Lutherans and Catholics must let themselves continuously be transformed by the encounter with the other and by the mutual witness of faith.
3. Catholics and Lutherans should again commit themselves to seek visible unity, to elaborate together what this means in concrete steps, and to strive repeatedly toward this goal.

4. Lutherans and Catholics should jointly rediscover the power of the gospel of Jesus Christ for our time.
5. Catholics and Lutherans should witness together to the mercy of God in proclamation and service to the world.

The Common Prayer Services were meaningful in their hopefulness, in a moving forward together, and in their commitment. Regularly, over the course of the next year I will be briefly reflecting on these imperatives via this monthly newsletter article.

I am hopeful, more so than I have ever been. When I participated in these special liturgies this fall, I was consciously affirming a personal commitment to continue working toward the goal of full eucharistic sharing between our two traditions. It is a goal sought by many in our respective churches; a goal whose achievement I pray to someday experience. This is a God-pleasing reformation goal that we can collectively advance as we live out these commitments. Won't you join me?

In Christ Jesus –
Shalom,

+Bishop Larry Kochendorfer
